

It is a tradition of our laws to allow individuals certain inalienable rights, including the right to personal privacy. Do not violate this right.